ACINETOBACTER 2019

12th INTERNATIONAL SYMPOSIUM ON THE
BIOLOGY OF ACINETOBACTER

Call for abstracts!

SEPTEMBER 4 - 6, 2019

FRANKFURT/MAIN (GERMANY)

WELCOME

Dear colleagues and friends,
Dear members of the Acinetobacter Community,

The International Symposium on the Biology of Acinetobacter brings together medical and non-medical microbiologists as well as clinicians from all over the world to discuss the recent advances in Acinetobacter research, exchange new ideas and develop new relationships. An important focus is to promote students and young scientists to discuss their data and exchange knowledge. The major topics addressed during the current conference include population genetics and evolution, pathogenicity mechanisms, antibiotic resistance, genetics and regulation of infection, metabolism and regulation, adaptation and persistence, epidemiology and new therapeutic approaches. The 12th International Symposium on the Biology of Acinetobacter 2019 will be held in Frankfurt, Germany, the home of Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, a global finance and market place with its unique style reflected by the museums on the river Main banks and the bold high-rise architecture as well as local dishes such as Grüne Soße, Ebbelwei and Frankfurter sausages. We welcome you to join the 'Acinetobacter family' in Frankfurt and hope you will enjoy an exciting meeting.

Welcome to Frankfurt!

Yours,

Beate Averhoff,
Conference Chair
